

DISTRIBUTED CONTROL PLANE ARCHITECTURE FOR NETWORK ELEMENTS

5

ABSTRACT

A method of distributing processing in a network device includes defining controller and worker control plane protocol modules. The method also includes developing corresponding entries in a communications library and implementing an infrastructure module, the communication library and the controller module on a control plane. The infrastructure module, the communication library and the worker modules are implemented on a forwarding plane.

10